

Service description for Internet Multi Access Broadband 20 Mbit/s dedicated:

Access to the Internet is provided over a high-speed data network (gigabit network) available at Messe Wien and a high-performance, redundant connection to two different providers.

With Internet “Multi Access Broadband 20 Mbit/s dedicated” you receive an Internet connection with a bandwidth of 20 Mbit/s in both directions, private IP address allocation via DHCP and fair use download volume.

Provision of this service at the booth takes place via a shielded CAT-5 data cable with standard RJ45 plug.

Included in the package is an 16-port network switch for the connection of up to 15 PC´s. No username or password are required.

With additional network switches (not included in this package), up to 250 computers can be connected.

All connected PCs share the total bandwidth of 20 Mbit/s.

Included is the infrastructure, availability check for the connections, planning and laying of the line in coordination with the booth builder or, if necessary, with the trade fair operator, functional check after completion as well as a technical hotline during the event and during the set-up and break-down times.

Setup: Connect the network cable at the fair booth to the network port of the computer, start an Internet browser (in the Internet settings, DHCP should be configured and the proxy deactivated), open any page (e.g. www.kapsch.net) and surf away.
